Sewer permit could boost builder boom

BELLE GLADE—City officials and contractors received a shot in the arm last week with news the city sewer treatment plant should receive its first permanent operating permit since 1973, along with a permit to connect another 90,000 gallons per day worth of connections.

Umeh Assarni, engineer in charge of waste waters in the Palm Beach County Health Department's Division of Environmental Engineering, said Monday the city's treatment plant had been inspected two weeks ago and he was recommending the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation issue a permanent operating permit.

Assarni also said he is recommending the state DER also grant the city's request for the equivalent of 200 residential connections.

He went on to say that since the County Health Department acts as an agent of the DER, the recommendation will almost certainly be granted. He expected to hear from the state in two to three weeks.

"We inspected their (Belle Glade's) plant a couple of weeks ago," Assarni said, "and they looked much better than they ever have before. The treatment has definitely improved."

"Belle Glade had requested a temporary operating permit along with the request for another 200 connections," he said, "and since we found they were more than meeting the state's standards of 90 per cent treatment, I went ahead and recommended a permanent permit."

As a courtesy, Assarni said when he wrote the recommendation, he telephoned Belle Glade Sewage Treatment Plant Director Ed Balmer and told him what he intended to do.

Balmer phoned the good news to City Manager Robert Sanders Thursday and Sanders told the City Commissioners Friday evening at a budget workshop session.

"That's the biggest good news we've had for years," Commissioner Tom Altman said.

"We were just about out of ERCs (Equivalent Residential Connections) and we needed more real bad. This should really start the building business booming."

The city's treatment plant was under fire for some time by the Health Department because the plant was overloaded with ground water being infiltrated through broken lines in the city's aging collection system.

Through several phases of new construction and modifications, and a more recent program the Water and Sewer Department has been conducting to find leaks with a television camera purchased several months ago and make repairs, the plant has gradually caught up.

The permanent permit, however, if it is issued according to Assarni's recommendation, won't be without conditions. Assarni said there may still be enough infiltration of ground water during the rainy season to overload the plant.

As contractors in the city are aware, the infiltration is directly related to the moratorium on new connections, except for 200 hardship ERCs issued the city by the Health Department two years ago and which have been carefully husbanded by the city commission, at one time slowed building almost to a halt.

Only since the commissioners began releasing ERCs for commercial building a few months ago has a building boom begun which saw an increase of more than a million dollars in building permits for this year as compared to last year.

If that program ultimately proves successful, and an unconditional permanent operating permit issued by the state, there is general agreement among both city officials and local builders that a building boom will probably begin in earnest.

Gas overcomes city employee

KILLED BY GAS, Belle Glade employee William Gooden is administered oxygen by Emergency Medical Technician Mike Gresinger. Gooden and co-worker Phillip Berry had carried 12 ounces of a powerful cleaning agent down the 25-foot deep manhole at the sewer lift station number 5 at Southeast Avenue G and Southwest Fourth Street when the chemical spilled, releasing fumes which left Gooden unconscious. Berry said he attempted to carry or force Gooden up the ladder but Gooden was too heavy to carry and too groggy to climb. City worker Charlie McDonald arrived on the scene a few minutes later and went down to carry Gooden back up the ladder. McDonald said the fumes were enough to leave him dizzy too when he returned to the surface.

Official opening is Sept. 10

BELLE GLADE—With construction scheduled to be completed by August 15, Glades residents will have a chance to officially open a four-lane SR 80 from South Bay to the Glades Office Building... complete with the roller-coaster ride north to Airport Road. Members of the Canal Hazards Safety Committee decided Wednesday morning to hold a ribbon-cutting ceremony with all the frills at 10:30 a.m. Sept. 10 on the Main Street Bridge crossing Hillsboro Canal, where a similar ribbon-cutting was held for the bridge itself on Jan. 11.

The committee decided to hold the ribbon cutting after school begins to give more people a chance to attend. They chose the Hillsboro Bridge after considering the North New River Canal Bridge in South Bay after considering traffic could be routed around the Belle Glade location but couldn't in South Bay.

Committee Chairman E.W. "Bud" Weaver suggested the other committee members also work together to compile a list of dignitaries and people interested in SR 80 to invite and participate in the festivities.

Also at Weaver's suggestion, the Belle Glade Junior Women's Club will be invited to coordinate refreshments, which will be paid for by the committee, as they did at the groundbreaking ceremonies.

But DOT (Department of Transportation) Engineer Frank Weatherholt, who has been supervising the construction project, held out little hope for correction of the wavy road surface between Airport Road and Glades Correctional Institution for at least a couple of years.

At a motion by member Tom Baker, the committee decided to send a letter to the DOT district engineer protesting the method of construction and suggesting no backfill in future projects.

Weatherholt said the problem is that in an economy move, only about three feet of muck was removed before the foundation was laid for the road with the effect that there was compaction at points where drive-ways and ditches existed before the project began.

Between the compacted areas, the road has begun settling, Weatherholt explained, to the point the concrete curbing on the median strip has begun cracking and collapsing at the joints.

"They'll probably resurface the road in about two years, when they complete the stretch east to US 98," Weatherholt said. He said he had been allowed 150 tons of asphalt to correct bad spots and said that wasn't enough to take care of the entire problem.

"It's like a rollercoaster now," Committee member Marvin Unwin said, "so you know what it'll be like when trucks start running over it."

The committee also took care of some internal business by accepting a resignation from his chairman's job by Weaver and from the committee by Secretary William Gravely.

The committee decided to elect

Tax cut, water increased by city fathers

BELLE GLADE—City Commissioners decided in a marathon session Friday and Saturday to hit city water users for a two-step rate hike but more than made up for it with a roll-back on property taxes as they hammered a $5.24 million budget for next year.

The commissioners took a series of history-making steps in the budget session as they met Friday night and all day Saturday, winding up the session at 9 p.m. At that, they finished well ahead of the scheduled time of noon Sunday and hacked weeks off the normal budget preparation time.

Ad valorem taxes were reduced to 8.85 mills, the first time taxpayers have paid less than ten mills since that cap was made mandatory several years ago by the state legislature. The millage reduction means the city will receive the same amount of revenue from property taxes as it did last year. Had the commission decided to maintain the tax at ten mills, another $82,069 would have been added to the city's budget.

Figuring an average assessment of $30,000 for homes in Belle Glade, Commissioner Tom Altman said the average homeowner will save $30 this year compared to last year's taxes, or $2.50 savings per month.

On the other hand, the commission decided to raise water rates 15 percent this year and another 15 percent on Oct. 1, 1978 to stabilize the city's Water and Sewer Fund.

Assistant Finance Director Carvey Wall said the rate increase would mean a family being charged the minimum fee of $11 per month for water, sewer and garbage will be charged $12.08 beginning Oct. 1, while the family using more than the minimum 2,000 gallons will be charged 63 cents per thousand gallons after the first 2,000 rather than the 55 cents now being charged.

Next year, the rate will be increased again to $13.89 for the first thousand gallons and 72 cents per thousand gallons after that.

The rate increase was a compromise between several possible increases. City Manager Robert R. Sanders said it is essential to balance the city's Water and Sewer Fund.

Without the rate increase, Sanders and Finance Director Frank Anderson told the commissioners there would be a deficit of $195,420 during the coming fiscal year.

Anderson also asked the commission for permission to start procedures for taking $200,000 out of the Water and Sewer Repair and Rehabilitation Fund to repay the General Fund for moneys used this year to pay for unexpected expenses such as the $145,000 replacement of filters at the city water plant.

By state law, the Water and Sewer Fund is supposed to pay for itself but Anderson said $281,000 has already been taken from the General Fund to pay for the unexpected repairs.

He did say, however, there is still $102,000 in the Water and

No way to get away

BELLE GLADE—God knows, he tried, but it was one of those days there was no getting away.

City Building Inspector Kenneth Retterer was supposed to leave town Friday afternoon to start a much-desired vacation in the Keys. Naturally, that's when the City Commission held its first annual budget session and, just as naturally, they wanted him there.

Retterer said that didn't bother him so much though because there was "a couple of hours of work" he wanted to clear away before he left and he wasn't able to get to it until Monday morning.

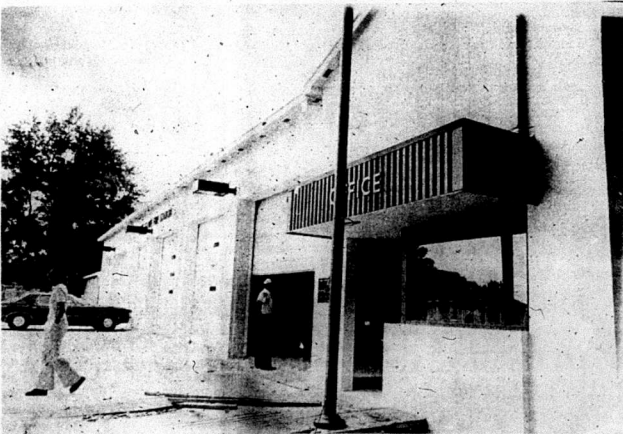

He should have known that "couple of hours" would run him to 4 p.m.

Away at last, he and his wife got as far as Hollywood, the Retterers' old home town, when they stopped for gas and while the pump was running, they went inside the station.

When they came back out, Belle Glade's hard-working building inspector found it wasn't his day.

His car was gone...along with golf bags, suitcases filled with clothing and everything else one takes on vacation to the Keys.

Small wonder City Manager Robert Sanders had a call from Hollywood Tuesday morning, saying, "Come get me, boss. I'm ready to go back to work."

Fire station may open Tuesday

FIRE CHIEF A.E. WEBB and dispatcher Karen Hansford inspected Belle Glade's new fire station, which Webb said should be occupied by Tuesday, this week. The fire chief said the finishing touches are being put on the building, which will be the polling place in the Sept. 13 city election, and virtually all the electrical work has been completed.

Brother and sister return from Hawaii

BELLE GLADE—Miss Blanca Navarro and Mr. Leonardo Navarro, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Navarro of Whitaker Road in Belle Glade, left last Sunday July 17 to Hawaii on their vacation.

They left at 10 a.m. from Miami International Airport to Los Angeles Cal. and from there proceeded to their final destination.

They spent two days in the main island and took a tour throughout the rest of the most beautiful state in the Union. While touring the island they were told the history and the events that happened before this part of the world came to be a part of the United States.

The brother and sister were guests at a dance performance of the natives as well as traditional dances of Hawaii, they dined native Hawaiian food and just had a wonderful time. The people, they said, are very friendly and they try to help you as much as they can, also the people are always very polite. They said that the biggest satisfaction a Hawaiian native could have is to see that the people that go to the island leave satisfied and happy of the way they are treated and in the Navarro team they have succeeded.

Like all vacationers, the two members of the Navarro family are sorry that their vacation ended up so fast, and on Sunday July 24, they were back where they started one week ago but with one difference, many lovely memories, of the way they were treated while in Hawaii and they both said that they will be back to the islands SOON!

Genealogy

Free classes are being taught

BELLE GLADE—Glades residents turned on by the idea of tracing their family roots but turned off because they don't know where to start now have a chance to find out how and where to start looking.

Elder Olive E. Beal and his wife, Sister Beal, are teaching classes, free of charge, on how to go about researching genealogy. The classes meet at 8 p.m. every Tuesday at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints at 601 N.E. Ave. A.

"We Mormons spend more money on genealogy than any other single thing," Elder Beal said, "except construction of new churches." The two missionaries said their church is interested in eventually being able to trace anyone's genealogy virtually instantaneously with the help of a giant computer in Salt Lake City.

"Theoretically," Beal said, "we'd be able to trace anyone's lineage the way back to Adam, whether they were members of our church or not."

Since the Mormon Church is especially interested in genealogy, and family history has become a matter of general interest to people all over America after the release of the book and television movie, "Roots," Beal said the church can help non-church members while at the same time building its own library up.

Mentioning "Roots," Beal said the majority of the church's records deal with people of European origin but non-Europeans are also welcome to attend the classes because technique will be taught as well as hard information specifically on file in church records.

Beal and his wife are from Rocklin, Cal., they said, and will be in Belle Glade until December, holding classes throughout that time. They said that if anyone gets started and needs help, or has already started on their genealogy and have gotten hung up, the Beals will be glad to lend their expertise to the solution of those problems.

"We also want to make it clear," Mrs. Beal said, "that there are no costs for the classes unless someone comes in and needs to buy paper or a chart, but they're welcome to bring their own paper with them."

She said there are likewise no obligations toward the church, but that anyone is welcome to come join in. The classes will last from one to one and a half hours.

For more information, interested persons are requested to call the 4-H office at 683-1252 before Aug. 9.

Plant, vegetable clinics scheduled

BELLE GLADE—A plant clinic will be conducted by Gene Joyner, urban horticulturist for the Palm Beach County Cooperative Extension Service at the Glades Agricultural office on US 441 north of town from 1 to 3 p.m. Aug. 5.

Many people have problems with various plants in their landscapes and need help in diagnosing what the problem is and how to correct it," Joyner said. "This plant clinic is set up for the purpose of allowing the public to bring in any problems they are having with their trees, shrubbery or lawns and an agent will be available to look at the sample and diagnose the problem."

Bulletins on various subjects are also available at the agricultural extension office and those attending the plant clinic are encouraged to pick up bulletins of interest to them.

Joyner said persons unable to come to the office during the clinic hours may call in plant problems to 996-5611, extension 33 and he will try to answer the questions over the phone.

This free clinic is not a formal class or lecture and is conducted on an informal basis. Anyone having plant problems is encouraged to attend.

BELLE GLADE—A free vegetable gardening seminar will be offered Glades residents from 9 to 11 a.m. Aug. 5 at the Glades Courthouse Building complex on North US 441 by Gene Joyner, urban horticulturist for the Palm Beach County Cooperative Extension Service.

"This is the time of year," Joyner said, "that county residents who are thinking about putting in home gardens should be making preparations. Many people who will be gardening this fall have either been unsuccessful in previous years or possibly are doing it for the first time and would welcome some tips on how to grow a vegetable garden properly."

This will be one of a series of two-hour seminars Joyner will hold at various spots around the county. They will cover every aspect of growing vegetables and will be slide illustrated. In addition, there will be a number of helpful publications on gardening given out to those attending.

Build a solar water heater

Save energy and money

GAINESVILLE—If you can't afford the high initial cost of adding a solar water heating system to your home, consider building your own.

Commercially-built solar water heating systems may cost as much as $1,500, but a University of Florida (UF) agricultural engineer says the average "handyman" can build and install one for $300 or less.

In Florida, water heating is the largest single energy consumer in the home, accounting for about 30 percent of residential energy use. A typical family of four pays about $240 annually to heat water. A properly designed solar unit with a backup heat source could save up to 80 percent of this annual heating cost, more than paying for itself in just a few years, explains Dr. C. Dorelle Baird, associate professor with the UF's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences (IFAS).

Baird, who has designed many solar energy heating units for greenhouses and other farm structures, points out that the success of a solar water heating system in energy conservation and hot water delivery depends largely on usage patterns.

"This is particularly important for solar systems equipped with backup electric booster elements. When large quantities of hot water are used during the evening hours, the electric booster will automatically come into operation, reducing energy savings. A manual electric booster, which can be turned on only when needed, is more efficient than an automatic booster," he says.

"Of course, the greatest energy savings can be achieved by using a solar water heating system without any type of backup heat source. This type of system will save 100 percent on water heating costs, yet you must willing to use warm or cool water on overcast days," Baird says.

A solar water heating system has three basic components: a solar heat collector, the hot water storage tank, and the circulation system. Flat plate collectors, which act as the heating element, are the most practical for home use. They include metal tubing connected to a metal sheet, both painted black to absorb heat; an insulated, weather-resistant box to retain heat; and a transparent cover of glass or plastic.

"Except for possible breakage, glass is preferred over plastic because glass permits the sun's radiant energy to enter the collector, but does not directly transmit heat coming off the absorber plate. Plastic, on the other hand, transmits both incoming and outgoing energy, letting more collected heat escape," Baird says.

One three-by-eight foot solar collector will heat approximately 40 gallons of water daily, which should be sufficient for two persons. Two of these 24-square foot collectors will provide enough hot water for a family of four.

Baird says the solar collector must be mounted in a sunny location, preferably facing south. To make the best use of the sun's rays, mount the collector at an angle from the horizontal equal to the latitude at your particular location, plus 10 degrees.

"For example, in northern Florida, where the latitude is approximately 30 degrees, a tilt of 40 degrees will provide the best year-round performance. Deviating from prescribed angles will reduce efficiency only slightly. Reducing an angle from 40 degrees to 25 degrees to correspond with the roof pitch reduces collector efficiency by about 10 percent," Baird states.

He recommends using a hot water storage tank that is large enough to store the amount of hot water required during a typical 24-hour period. The average family of four requires a storage tank with at least 80 gallons. A larger storage tank—100 to 120 gallons—does not cost much more and will store extra hot water for use when demand is unusually high or the sky is overcast.

Action continues with games in Glades Women's Softball

By Karen Hansford

As the seventh week of Glades Women's softball action rolled around, Wallis Pharmacy downed Dixie Fried Chicken 15-5, South Bay Growers topped Miami Herald 15-14, Local 2152 defeated Dixie Fried Chicken 24-5 and Glades Sugar forfeited to Miami Herald in games at the Belle Glade Little League-Jaycee ballpark.

Glades Sugar's forfeit came because of the lack of number of required players (10) to field the team. The forfeit gave Miami Herald its fourth win of the season.

Doris Velez and Karen Hansford led the scoring for Wallis Pharmacy with three runs each and Kim Akin smashed a single, double and triple for seven RBI's in a 15-5 thrashing of Dixie Fried Chicken. Both teams played defensive ball in the first two innings, allowing no runs to score. Wallis edged ahead with two in the third inning on Kim Akin's double, then Dixie Fried took the lead in the top of the fourth when Sharon Humphrey, Judy Curtis and Rita Schoenfeld rounded the bases. Humphrey had led off the inning with a double into right field.

Altie Velez drew a base on balls for Wallis in the bottom of the inning and Sharon Clayton and Doris Velez knocked out doubles as the batter broke loose for eight runs, then added another five in the fifth inning, one a triple by Akin. Dixie Fried threatened in the sixth inning, with Judy Curtis advancing to second base on an error by the shortstop, then Rita Schoenfeld whacked a ball into right field for three bases. She scored on Debbie Lord's hit. The team had the bases loaded with two outs when Norma Santos hit a grounder to second baseman Rhoni Cox, who flipped the ball to second base to end the game.

In an exciting, high-scoring contest, South Bay Growers fended off a desperate rally by the Miami Herald to protect a 15-14 triumph, its fifth of the year.

Both teams struck in the first inning, with South Bay taking a slim one-run lead after scoring five runs to Miami Herald's four. Cindy Riddle knocked in two runs for South Bay in the second on a double into centerfield.

Miami Herald took the lead in the bottom of the second when Janie Priest, Marie Cranford and Michelle Jordan each hit singles and scored for three of Miami Herald's five runs to make it 9-7.

Each team pushed two runs across the plate in the third inning. The fourth inning was a standoff, then South Bay Growers rallied for six runs in the fifth to take the lead again. The runners threatened to go for more with the bases loaded, then third baseman Rachel Mills stopped a grounder and ran to the base for the third out.

Behind by four runs, Miami Herald made a bid for the win with Michelle Jordan knocking in two runs on a single, then scoring on Rachel Mills' double with only one out. Jeannie Redd drew a walk to put the tying and winning runs on base, but the attempt was aborted as the next batter drew a third strike for two outs, then Mills was forced out at third base on a throw by the shortstop.

The game was called after the fifth inning because of the hour and a half time limit.

In last Thursday's match, Local 2152 roasted Dixie Fried Chicken for a lopsided 24-5 score.

Local racked up 15 runs in the first three innings. Barbara Hartzog knocked in four and Cindy Gummere was credited with one RBI's as every player but one scored. Judy Curtis walloped a two-run homer into left-centerfield to put Dixie Fried in the scorebook in the third inning.

Terry Cranford added one for the team on Debbie Lord's sacrifice in the fourth after they managed to hold the Local girls to no score.

Sara Rives and Barbara Morgan crossed the plate for the Local's two runs in the fifth inning the Dixie Fried pushed on across on Kathy Moore's double to make it 17-4.

Despite a threat by Dixie Fried Chicken in the seventh inning when the runners loaded the bases, the Local batters put the game out of reach in the last two innings, tallying up seven more runs for a total of 24. Donna Garcia looped a hit over the centerfielder's head for a homerun in the sixth inning.

Maggie Moomey added Dixie Fried's only run in the last inning as Sharon Humphrey was forced out at third base for the final out.

Glades Women's Softball League Standings as of 7/25/77: Wallis Pharmacy, eight wins and one loss; Local 2152, six wins and three losses; South Bay Growers, five wins and five losses; Miami Herald, four wins and five losses; Dixie Fried Chicken, four wins and six losses; Glades Sugar, one win and eight losses.

27 years perfect attendance

Lions Club honors Schoenfeld

BELLE GLADE—The Lion's Club honored Buddy Schoenfeld for having 27 years perfect attendance at their meeting Wednesday, July 20.

Schoenfeld received a perfect attendance pin for recognition. He also received pins for 5-year, 10-year, 20-year, 25-year, and 26-year perfect attendance.

Schoenfeld has held the offices of president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer and zone chairman for the Lions. He was also the deputy district governor, which is the highest honor one can receive without running for Lions governor.

Schoenfeld has lived in Belle Glade since 1936. He is retiring this month from his job as Paymaster at Wedgworth's. He has worked there for the past 40 years. Buddy is married to Marie and they have three children, Billy, Charles, and Rita.

Receiving 5-year perfect attendance pins were Howard Lamb, Emil Wolf, D. Bill Mathis, Jim Wierengo, Vic Guzman, Wayne Miner, and Ron Snyder.

Swimming pool's fate seems sealed

BELLE GLADE—The fate of the municipal swimming pool was apparently sealed in a workshop session last Thursday when the City Commissioners acknowledged the right of the Belle Glade Lions to buy back the last 79 years of a city lease of the Lions-owned property.

The only problem left outstanding at the end of the workshop was what the sale price would be and that problem seemed to have been solved during budget sessions.

Under the lease agreement, drawn up in 1967, the Lions paid the city $1,000 for the right to purchase the remainder of the 99-year lease at any time during that lease, agreeing to pay for any improvements made in the meantime.

While the city was raising the $85,000 to build the pool, the Lions donated $18,577 towards the purchase price and the agreement stipulated that amount, plus interest, could be used to purchase the remainder of the lease.

At least two of the commissioners have agreed the original Lion donation, plus the 20 years interest it has accrued, would be fair price for the Lions to pay the city for the lease.

Mayor Ralph Kirk said he thought the price would be fair and, during budget sessions Friday, Kenneth Harris, who was absent from the workshop, said if the Lions still want to exercise their option, that seemed like a fair price.

Commissioner Tom Altman expressed dissatisfaction with the way the original lease was drawn up but said he couldn't go along with the city spending anywhere from $30,000 to $60,000 to rehabilitate the pool with the possibility the Lions could still exercise their option at any time.

He also said that while no one seemed to know what the value of the Lions' original donation would be worth today, it could well exceed the current value of any improvements to the property.

Altman and Commissioner Aubrey Farmer indicated they would be willing to let the property go back to the Lions Club and the city could then find other land to build another pool.

Lion President Ron Snyder said the club members haven't formally agreed to what they want to do with the property when they get it but the feeling now is for some kind of a building which could be used for a clubhouse and to hold other functions.

Snyder did say, however, there was no possibility the Lions would repair and reopen the pool for private or public use. "If there was any question of using the pool, I don't think we could have gotten the votes to exercise the option."

The Lions also had the option in the agreement that if the city failed to maintain the buildings or the pool, which has been closed for four years because of drainage problems, they could reclaim the property at no cost.

"I hope," Commissioner William Grear said, "the majority of the Lions are aware the city has been trying to repair the pool and we've been trying to keep it up." Snyder said the Lions have no intention of exercising that option. "We don't want to be cast in the role of the big, bad wolf in this thing," he said. "We have to work within the community."

In the discussion on price, Snyder said the Lions haven't agreed on an asking price. He said he would take the matter back to the club and come up with price on the improvements.

Budget

Sewer checking account but he expects the deficit to run more than $300,000 by Sept. 10, the end of the current fiscal year.

With the rate hike, there will still be a $36,060 deficit but Sanders said that could be made up from unappropriated surplus.

Commissioner Aubrey Farmer was the prime mover in holding down the originally suggested 50 percent rate hike made by Sanders, saying he preferred a two-step increase. He would have like to raise the rates only 12 percent, while Commissioners Altman and William Greer were urging a 25 percent increase. The compromise was suggested by Mayor Ralph Kirk.

Generally, the budget, while taxing the homeowners less, included something for everybody. Three men were added to the Police Department budget to provide two walking officers on Avenue A and at the Glades Plaza five days a week. The Police Department is the city's largest under the General Fund but Chief Charles Goodlett convinced the commissioners' after a heated discussion that with double the national standard crime rate, he couldn't pull currently budgeted officers from other tasks for the foot patrols.

Extra funds were budgeted to allow for two Emergency Medical Technicians on duty at all times. Sanders told the commissioners he hadn't included the extra two men on the budget because he wasn't aware of the need until last Wednesday night.

He and Fire Chief A.E. "Pete" Webb told the commissioners the EMTs would be considerably more successful on emergency runs when they operated in teams of two rather than individually. "One man can't perform CPR (Cardiovascular Pulmonary Resuscitation) by himself," Webb said.

City employees received a 3 percent salary increase but possibly more important, their city-paid life insurance policies' benefits will be increased from $5,000 to $10,000 for employees earning less than $10,000; $15,000 for employees earning between $10,000 and $15,000 annually and to $20,000 for all others.

Sanders said the additional $8,472 cost to the city will be well worth it for the benefits to the employees and what it will do to keep employees with the city.

The commission decided to buy 25 new and 10 rebuilt golf carts to be used on the city's golf course. In the past, the city has leased the carts and the commissioners felt ownership will prove less expensive.

The commission decided to fill what was described by several people as, "the most important single position in the city." That position is an oiler at the city garage to provide preventive maintenance for all city vehicles.

Sanitation Director Roy Polling said, for instance, he is responsible for a third of a million dollars worth of vehicles for which he is paying thousands of dollars in needless repairs because no one person is responsible for lubricating them and performing other preventive maintenance.

For the first time in anyone's memory, the commission took several steps in reviewing the budget prepared by Sanders and his staff over the past ten weeks.

The review took place over two consecutive days where the commissioners have traditionally met approximately three nights a week for periods reaching five weeks, cutting their total work time to as little as a fifth of the time they have spent in the past.

Department and division heads participated in the review. While this was prohibited in the past, Sanders said last week he wouldn't have it any other way. "For the first time," Commissioner Greer commented Saturday evening, "we were able to ask the department heads questions about things they wanted that we might otherwise have cut out."

For the first time, also, City Clerk June Boglioli was present throughout the sessions taking minutes. In the past, there have been a number of disputes between various commissioners over what was or was not discussed and agreed to in previous sessions. There is a permanent record of the review sessions for the 1977-78 budget.

While Farmer said he would have liked to have had a day between the sessions, the other commissioners and Finance Director Frank Anderson said they preferred the "budget retreat" suggested by Sanders.

But all the commissioners expressed agreement when Farmer said, "This was the easiest budget I've had to go over in the 14 years I've been a commissioner. There wasn't any question about what was being budgeted. Everything was laid right out for us."

Before leaving the meeting, Sanders made arrangements to meet Monday with Anderson to draw changes made by the commission into the budget.

The next step for the budget will be a public hearing on Aug. 8 for the projected use of the $354,756 the city expects to receive in Federal Revenue Sharing funds.

After that, the budget will be formally presented to the commission on Aug. 22 and Sept. 12 for first and second readings and final approval. It will take effect Oct. 1.

Unwin chairman, effective Sept. 1 and Helen McCormick as secretary, effective immediately.

In other business, the committee approved a motion by member Robert Mathews to ask the DOT to repair three bad dips in the roadway of the existing SR 80 between the city and 20 Mile Bend and also to cut the tops off pilings which have been protruding through the surface of US 98 for many months.

Accepted another Mathews motion to ask the DOT to investigate whether the shrubbery planted several years ago on SR 80 east of 20 Mile Bend as an experiment to keep cars from going into West Palm Beach Canal.

Mathews said the shrubbery was planted as a $40,000 landscaping and safety experiment several years ago by DOT but there are now points where the plants are so thin, he doubts they would prevent a car from going into the canal.

Police escort demise delayed

BELLE GLADE—Merchants irate over announced plans to discontinue police escort service to city banks extracted a two-week delay past the Aug. 1 ending date for the service while they try to work out an alternate proposal with city administrators.

The merchants were represented at the regular city commission meeting by Mrs. Marsha Womack, whose mother owns The Old Dining Room, Glades Plaza Winn Dixie Manager Walter McDaniel and attorney Frank Kreidler.

Mrs. Womack had already presented a petition bearing the signatures of 55 city residents, many of them merchants taking advantage of the escort program at the present time, asking the commission to allow the police department to continue the service.

A letter from the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce was also read sanctioning the petition and agreeing with the request.

"We feel the escort is a necessary asset and service," Mrs. Womack told the commissioners. "It helps stop crime and we believe it would continue to stop crime and possibly even someone getting killed."

McDaniel told the commission he has enjoyed the service for some time and pointed out there is no comparable service in Belle Glade.

"What it means, if you stop the service," McDaniel said, "is that I'll have to get a gun permit and take care of it myself."

Mrs. Womack suggested one solution might be for the escort officer to simply follow the merchants to the bank and return to his duty as soon as he reaches the bank, rather than go to the place of business, pick up the merchant in his cruiser, take him to the bank and return him to his store after he's completed his business.

The Commission asked the three spokesmen to meet with City Manager Robert Sanders and Public Safety Director Charles Goodlett and a report would be made to the commission with a recommendation on Aug. 8.

City, schools resolve row

BELLE GLADE—An argument over the possible overlapping of two recreational programs, both funded by the city, was apparently resolved Monday morning during a meeting between city officials and Palm Beach County Community Schools staffers.

The dispute, which surfaced Friday night during a city budget session, involved charges by Commissioner William Gear that Community School employees' jobs at Lake Shore Middle School gym were being paid to coordinate activities actually being handled by city recreation employees.

The problem started on June 13 when the city commission decided not to fund the community school projects, at the request of director LeHarve Young, until after city budget sessions.

Then on June 27, the commission yielded to demands by a large crowd, represented by Community Schools employees Dan Bythwood, Eddie Rhodes and Ronald Cook, to provide at least two recreational programs, a softball field behind the Lake Shore Civic Center and keeping the gymnasium open after city workers apparently went home at 4 p.m.

Bythwood, Rhodes and Cook said there was nothing for area youngsters to do after dark, when they said the crime rate for juveniles peaked. City Recreation Director Johnny Rutledge said in a June 28 meeting the Glades Central gym was re-opened at 6:30 p.m. and remained open until 9. He said nothing at that time about whether the Lake Shore gym was re-opened for evening use.

The commissioners, on a motion by Commissioner Tom Altman, moved then to grant $4,000 to keep the Lake Shore gym open at night and on weekends under Community Schools auspices, with documentation to be provided the city on wages paid the hours the gym remained open.

When Gear made his charges during the budget sessions, saying he believed the city had been "fleeced", Altman said it had been his impression the funds were needed to go toward paying salaries and that was his intention when he made the original motion.

Director LeHarve Young told the commissioners during the budget talks he had been unaware Bythwood, Rhodes and Cook had intended to appear before the commission. "The first thing I knew about it was when I read in the newspaper the commission had appropriated $4,000."

"If you recall," Young told the commissioners, "my original request was for $4,760 to keep the gym open all day for 12 weeks." Commissioner Aubrey Farmer said he remembered that. Young then went on to say $1,780 of the $4,000 grant had already been spent on uniforms, basketballs, ping pong tables and other equipment.

"As I recall," Altman said, "the $4,000 was strictly for salaries. This really irritates me. Every one of the commissioners has gotten enthusiastic about recreation and I don't like to see the enthusiasm used for something like this."

Several of the commissioners also remarked they were irritated by the fact the equipment purchased with part of the $4,000 would become the property of the school system.

In a memorandum on the results of the Monday morning meeting, which was attended by Gear, Altman and officials of both the city and school recreation programs, the equipment purchased under the grant would be inventoried and returned to the city after the end of the Community School program on Aug. 31.

Gear and Altman also said they were recommending that after that date, the gymnasium program, "will be continued under the direct operation, supervision and funding of the city's recreation department."

MORE CANDIDATES for the Sept. 8 South Bay City Commission election qualified last week when City Clerk Virginia Walker swore in Ray Sullivan (left) and incumbent Billy Wells (right). Mrs. Walker also swore in Charlie Reese as a candidate for the election but Reese wasn't available for a photograph. Sullivan, of 280 S.E. Fourth Ave., owns and operates the Lunch Box. He qualified to run in Group One, the seat now occupied by Jay Smith. Sullivan served for four years as a commissioner, including one one-year term as mayor, several years ago. Wells is running for re-election to his Group Two seat. He is currently finishing up his first two-year term of office. Reese also qualified in Group Two. Reese has twice run unsuccessfully for the city commission.

GED offered

The Department of Adult and Community Education announces that the Florida High School Equivalency Diploma Test (G.E.D.) will be given Aug. 9, 10, 11 at Atlantic Community School, 2801 Seacrest Boulevard in Delray Beach.

The test will be given from 6 to 10 p.m. and application for the test must be made one week in advance.

The G.E.D. Test is offered weekly throughout the county. For additional information call Glades Central High Community School after 2 p.m. at 996-7246.

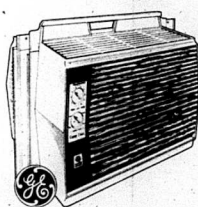

COMMISSIONER KENNETH HARRIS qualified Monday to run for re-election to his East Borough City City Commission seat in the Sept. 13 Belle Glade city election. Harris, winding up his first two-year term, is a buyer for Kroger Produce Co. and a former assistant administrator of the South Florida Conservancy District. Saying he expects to return to the city in mid-August from North Carolina, where he works during the summer for Kroger, Harris said he intends to run his campaign on his record. "There are a number of projects I've helped instigate, such as the water and sewer programs," he said, "which I'd like to help finish."

Sanders delivers "state of the city" message

BELLE GLADE-EDITOR'S NOTE: Before City Manager Robert R. Sanders presented the proposed city budget to the city commission, he presented a "State of the City" address describing, as he saw it, what the city has accomplished in the past fiscal year and what lies ahead for next year.

As a public service, The Belle Glade Herald has reprinted, verbatim, that message so the citizens of Belle Glade may see how their chief administrator views the status of the city.

As the City Commission begins its review of the proposed 1977-78 Budget, it may perhaps be helpful to take time to identify accomplishments, projects underway and problems yet to be resolved.

Every function of city government is dependent on one another and affects the overall efficiency of city government. Hopefully, the following will provide perspective with which to view the proposed budget.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

It is important, when preparing a future budget, to take stock of what has been accomplished with the present budget; to ascertain if services were ignored, needs met, promises kept, and if the community benefited through the City's efforts. The citizen should know exactly where his tax dollar goes.

Below are listed some of the major accomplishments, or projects underway of 1976-77:

CONSIDERATIONS FOR THE FUTURE

For every project completed, or piece of equipment purchased, there always seems to be two more appear to take its place. Maintaining the level of current services and preparing to meet the future needs of the City is a never-ending task.

Below are listed some of the major problems to consider in 1977-78 and future years.

- Increased sewer treatment capacity.
- Increased water storage capacity.
- Major street paving.
- Additional recreational/park sites.
- Development of recreation sites.

- And many more major considerations.

CANDID CONCLUSIONS

The City Commission has had to address itself to some very sensitive and difficult problems. And they will continue.

In some cases it was necessary to make decisions that were, at first mention, unpopular with the citizens but were, in the long range, in the best interests of the City.

The Commission has the information available to it to make such decisions and, only the reliability of this information allows the proper decisions to be made.

I would recommend that the Commission continue to allow the City Manager to handle the administrative matters without interference.

His authority over other City employees must not be jeopardized as this would lead to lack of control on his part over people who he is responsible for on a day-to-day basis.

Your authority over the City Manager is the controlling factor for all City affairs under his jurisdiction. Complaints from citizens, or on employees, should be directed to him.

Without exception, every Commission member has approached me at one time or another, or referred citizens to me, with a specific request, or problem to be rectified.

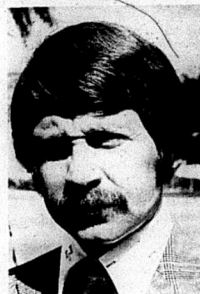

I sincerely hope that, also without exception, you received a satisfactory response, whether action or explanation. If not, then I was deficient in a most important responsibility.

It is most important that the Commission continue to rely on the City staff for reliable information concerning matters brought before the Commission. The more confident dence the Commission displays in the staff, the harder they will work and strive to do the best job possible.

Staff presents views based on their professional opinion and knowledge of all pertinent facts. Of course, on occasion there will be disagreement between staff views and the public's - and with

Minding the Store

BY ANDY CAMPANARO

Andy Campanaro (hey, that's me) is leaving the Belle Glade Herald and Everglades Observer this week to work in agricultural and industrial equipment sales at Lake Equipment Company, Pahokee.

Both Montlake Media (owners of the Herald and Observer) and Lake Equipment went through ownership shifts in 1976 and Campanaro says those shifts made both companies more responsive to business interests in the Glades.

"I'm happy to be associated with such fine sales and service products as Allis-Chalmers, Massey-Ferguson and Sperry-Holland," Campanaro said. "I want to make it clear I was very happy at the Herald and Observer, also, and feel those papers and the black paper The Lakeshore Shield are the pace-setters for the Glades."

Campanaro said "I've worked with businessmen in Lake Wales, Tallahassee, Miami Beach, Haines City, Port Charlotte and Daytona Beach, and these businessmen in Belle Glade and Pahokee are probably the sharpest and fairest of any of the towns I've worked. It's a pleasure to have served them."

Now that I've gotten that out of the way, I'd like to utilize this final the Commission as well - but the Commission makes the final decision and that decision is carried out without rancor or second-guessing. Fiscal year 1977-78 will be an exciting year in Belle Glade.

The new City Hall and Fire Station will be occupied; the Highway 80 project completed; the water system looping further advanced; sidewalks along Avenue A completed; and many other projects begun.

The City is in a relatively stable financial condition with only one fund - Water and Sewer - in an unbalanced state. Federal funds received in 1976-77 helped to offset the cost of major projects.

However, in order to meet the requirements of the future, a hard line approach to spending and revenue raising will have to be taken. Problems aforementioned will rise to take its place.

It is a normal situation for a dynamic, growing city.

Robert R. Sanders,

forum to make some mild predictions about business trends through this area in the future.

I believe the main agricultural staple of sugar will gradually shift as the price per pound stays down, as President Carter wows Castro's Cuba and starts trade with it. Alternate crops could be rice, tomatoes, corn and I understand, to my poor layman's understanding, there are strong experiments going on growing citrus products in muck soil. From three years in Lake Wales-Haines City, I can say that that area is losing citrus producing acreage to condominium and other developments and the citrus companies are more and more looking southwards.

There are some services available in the glades not available on the coast, contrary to popular belief, and there is a discernible trend from some larger businesses to open stores and sales and services on the coast headquartered here.

There's no stopping the growing clamor for a better "road" between the coast and the Glades. One needs a pickup to traverse that 30-year-old tragedy without spilling oil from the engine going over those humps.

Better not to say I have any specific information, but one of the things this area has done without is strong competition from large chains in retail items, such as K-Mart, Woolco, Jefferson, et cetera in department stores and Wawa, Burger King and McDonalds in restaurant competition. That will change within the next decade.

Now, mind you, I don't enthusiastically endorse this change. I'm just saying I've heard some things about it.

Now that the building boom (relatively speaking looking over the past several years) has started, it won't stop. New homes, duplexes and triplexes, as well as two-story apartment buildings will continue to eat up the cane fields to the edge of the city limits.

The population of Pahokee, per se, will stay about the same, while Belle Glade will break the 20,000 mark in 1980.

Our forgotten neighbor to the south will come into its own before 1990 and will truly become the southroad of South Florida. As human traffic increasingly builds up in South Florida, developers will try and fill in the Holy Lands and there will be our own metropolitan strip between South Bay and Canal Point along SR 715.

I predict that the long-talked mechanical harvesting will be here before 1980, throwing some 2,000 Jamaicans out of work, but increasing the quality of life for those of us who happen to be American citizens.

Socially, the "pioneer quality" of Belle Glade will remain through the rest of this century, although "different" religious and social groups probably will infiltrate the area, the basic composition of the people will remain devout hard-working southerners.

Although I'm a damned Yankee, I don't see many others coming in here, and I share the joy of the native southerner for that. There are qualities out of New York, and environs that are damaging to life as I like to live it.

Although I, personally, would like to see a separate county created from 20 mile bend street ward, and believe with all my heart it would serve both Palm Beach County and Muck County (may I coin a phrase), it probably won't happen because of the tremendous cost duplication of a new sheriff's office, and county government services it would entail.

I wonder if that expense would be worth it, however, considering the dastardly way Muck County citizens are treated by the coast. They'll take our money, but as far as services, they forget us over here.

To all my accounts, again it has been wonderful working with you and I leave secure in the knowledge that Publisher Biff Lampton and our new advertising lady Cathy Conerly will do well in servicing you.

Thank you for nine fine months.
-Andy Campanaro

Insurance rate hike proposed

The Florida Joint Underwriting Association has filed a major auto insurance rate hike, the third filed in the past two years, which Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter must approve or deny within 60 days.

While insurance agents are maintaining that doing away with mandatory liability insurance could be a step in the wrong direction, and it is to the public's advantage to carry such insurance, the J.U.A. is proposing rate hikes for it.

If people need liability but it is not required by law and, in addition, rates are increased by 33.1% for injury liability and 20.1% for property damage liability, how it is that going to encourage people to still carry the insurance?

They also want an increase of 61.9% in rates for personal injury protection, a 43.1% increase over all for the three coverages.

There's an inconsistency somewhere. If the rate hikes are approved, the negative points are going to outweigh the positive, two to one. The belief that drivers should carry liability insurance for their own protection and for the protection of others doesn't stand much of a chance.

The J.U.A. currently insures more than 600,000 Florida cars and in many parts of the state is now Florida's fastest growing insurer.

Drivers don't need another rate increase, especially in the area of liability insurance. It's hard to see who would benefit if the drivers don't buy and thus drive without the protection. Seems that the good drivers would suffer. For if they are hit by a car whose driver is not carrying liability insurance they're gonna have to foot the bill or hassle with a lawsuit.

Mrs. Hand is named to board

BELLE GLADE—Mrs. Dolly Hand of 1040 S.E. Fourth St. was named last week to her second consecutive term as chairman of the board of trustees for Palm Beach Junior College.

Mrs. Hand recently completed her first four-year term as a trustee of the college and was reappointed by Governor, Reubin Askew to her second term on the board.

She was active in the Glades Steering Committee which was instrumental in opening the Glades campus of the junior college and was also active in procuring the permanent campus site on SR 715, where the first structures are now being built.

Mrs. Hand's re-election took place last Wednesday during the annual board re-organization meeting. During that same meeting, Dr. Philip Lichtblau of West Palm Beach was also re-elected to his second term as vice president of the institution.

BELLE GLADE RESCUE workers got some additional muscle last Thursday when a $17,000 rescue truck was delivered for use by city Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs). Even more muscle will be added at the beginning of the new fiscal year on Oct.

1 when the Fire Department hires two more men to provide two-man teams EMTs Warren Street and Mike Gressinger, above, wasted little time in stowing emergency equipment on the new vehicle.

Lewis attempts section repeal

Rep. Tom Lewis (R-North Palm Beach) announced this week that he will try to repeal the section of the new insurance law that creates a "Good Driver Fund" passed in the recent session of the Legislature.

Lewis said, "I see no merit whatsoever to this particular portion of the bill. The additional surcharge of $30 resulting in a fine of $57.75 for all moving violations is absolutely outrageous, especially when the rebate going back to the driver with a perfect driving record is only between $7 and $8."

Lewis continued, "I have personally talked with people in law enforcement who do not want to enforce this law. Among others are members of the Judicial Branch in particular Supreme Court Justice Adkins who regards this law as a bad step backwards in enforcing the law."

"We need to help the people in our state by reducing insurance premiums, not to hurt them in a trade off of dollars that further penalizes them," Lewis said, "I am very much in favor of imposing stiff penalties on the drunk driver and the reckless driver, but to slap a fine of $57.75 on those people who are guilty of any minor moving violation borders on irresponsibility."

Lewis said he wrote a letter to the Governor urging the call for a Special Session. However, because the Governor does not feel that a Special Session would solve the problem he hopes the respective leaders of the House and Senate call for a Special Session to work out the differences.

Lewis ended his comments by saying that, "There are many provisions in this law that should be thoroughly worked out but in particular the increase in fines for a moving violation. If nothing can be done by calling a Special Session, I will be communicating with the Governor to appoint a "Blue Ribbon" panel (as set up by the Legislature), of experts to come up with some good answers for legislation in the 1978 session to put the insurance problems to bed once and for all."

BELLE GLADE—The August schedule for the Reynolds Aluminum Recycling mobile unit has four stops scheduled for Belle Glade.

The public may redeem their recyclable aluminum every Thursday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the City Park, 500 West Canal Street.

Reynolds pays 17 cents a pound for aluminum beverage cans and other clean household aluminum items such as pie plates, foil, frozen food and dinner trays, and dip, pudding the meat containers.

Certain other items, including aluminum siding, gutters, storm door and window frames, and lawn furniture tubing are also worth 17 cents a pound if properly prepared. This aluminum must be free of all foreign materials, cut to lengths not exceeding three feet and should not be mixed with cans.

Reynolds "Pennies from Heaven" donation program for the Muscular Dystrophy Association begins Aug. 1 and continues through Labor Day, Sept. 5.

During this time, Reynolds will donate one penny to the Muscular Dystrophy Association for every pound of aluminum recycled by the company's nationwide recycling program. These collections are expected to exceed 10 million pounds.

The penny a pound donation will be in addition to the 17 cents a pound normally paid to the public. The recycler may keep that money or donate it to MDA.

Growers named to group

LAKELAND—Seven Glades celery growers were appointed last week to the 15-member 1977-78 Florida Celery Committee by the U.S. Department of Agriculture while another seven were chosen as alternates.

The Group I members for the coming year are John G. Schlechter, Charles D. Wilkinson, William D. Gressinger and C.D. McClure, all of Belle Glade, and Roy Vandergift of Pahokee.

Group I alternates are James G. Gressinger, Robert S. Wigley and James H. Chambliss Jr., all of Belle Glade, and John C. Hatton and Frank J. Brady, both of Pahokee.

In Group IV, members are Billy Rogers and Robert D. Scruggs, both of South Bay, while the alternates are Roy Hayes and Frank D. Teets, also of South Bay. William C. Knope, field representative with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service at Lakeland, said the committee administers the local operations of the program, investigates supply and demand conditions and makes recommendations to USDA on regulations needed to promote orderly marketing of Florida celery.

Bike Hike set by department

BELLE GLADE—An expected large group of bicyclists will wheel their way from Chosen Bridge to Twin Bridges on Tory Island and back to the Aubrey Farmer Pavilion Saturday morning when the city recreation department sponsors a Bike Hike.

City Recreation Director Johnny Rutledge said the Bike Hikers, young and old, will gather at 8 a.m.

Rutledge said that once the bikers are gathered together, they will pedal under escort to the end of Tory Island and back to the marina, where the hike will end, although the riders will be provided a police escort back to the starting point.

NEW THINGS RISING in Belle Glade include the municipality's city hall now under construction by Blanton and Unwin of Pahokee in McDonald Park. With the roof and walls up, workers were busy this week installing air conditioning and City Manager Robert Sanders said with construction on schedule for the projected December opening.

Limited hunts are proposed

ALLAHASSEE—Primitive weapons enthusiasts will have the opportunity to experience a unique wilderness hunt in central Florida under a proposal by the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

The Commission is proposing limited access hunting in the Tosahatchee hunting preserve in Orange County. The 28,500-acre tract was purchased by the State earlier this year under the Environmentally Endangered Lands program.

"We'd like to open the area to hunting on a very restricted basis," explained Colonel R. M. Brantley, executive director of the commission.

"The hunting will be tightly controlled and will in no way interfere with future management of the land or jeopardize endangered characteristics of the area," he added.

The proposal calls for four three-day hunts in December and January, three limited to archers and the fourth to black powder. Tosahatchee has been hunted by a private group through the years prior to its purchase by the State.

"We're certainly not advocating throwing it open to indiscriminate hunting," the Director said, "but we do feel controlled hunting is recreational use of the land which should be permitted as long as it does not negate other uses."

"Both our law enforcement personnel and wildlife biologists have worked the area for many years and we're confident that no detriment will occur as a result of hunting as proposed," the director concluded.

The Commission is asking the Department of Natural Resources, the agency responsible for management of the area, to request the Cabinet to approve the proposed managed hunts for the coming season.

Johnson signs scholarship

McPHERSON, KANSAS—A member of the 1976-77 Glades Central football team recently signed a letter of intent to play football for McPherson College here.

William Johnson, a 5'10", 175 pound halfback on the Raider team, will join several other Glades Central alumni on the Mc-Pherson Bulldogs. He is one of six new prospects from Belle Glade and is returning after missing his first year of play after high school.

"He will add to McPherson's fine corps of young backs for the 1977 season," according to the McPherson head coach.

Hoy vamos hablar del ANALFABETISMO ESPIRITUAL

Que entendi usted por anal-fabetismo espiritual? Es la ignorancia crasa que existe en un porcentaje muy elevado de las personas en cuanto a "Cultura religiosa", y por lo tanto, carencia de FE verdadera, sustituida por "credulidad" que es la concepcion personal de lo que cada uno creer, sin base en los Evangelios de la Biblia.

Aunque parezca extraño, esta ignorancia ha sido por siglos el cimiento en que las religiones han edificado su Imperio Mundani (Apocalipsis 17:1-4) lleno de dogmas y misterios. (Un dogma y un misterio religioso, descrito crudamente en el argot de la calle y puesto a prueba a la luz de la Biblia, solo se puede traducir de una forma: "Cree y no averigues" o "Cree y no investigues". Por lo regular estos "dogmas" y "misterios" no son otra cosa que grandes mentiras vestidas con matices religiosos y servidas a personas que "viajan en el tren de la tradicion" sometidas inconscientemente a "los riles trazados" por los guias religiosos a traves de los siglos. Pero dicho mas finamente, no son mas que SOFISMAS, esto es razonamientos falsos, o conceptos no aceptados por la Biblia. Por esto es que Jesucristo dijo: "La verdad os hará libres" (Juan 8:32) y si usted no conoce la verdad de la palabra de Dios la Biblia, usted fue, es, y sera una de esas victimas o Analabeto espiritual a que hemos hecho referencia previa.

Como ejemplo de ello, podemos hacer preguntas que podriamos considerar religiosamente de "Kierdgersten", y si usted no puede contestarlas, no es responsabilidad suya, sino del guia religioso de la denominacion a que usted pertenece, y que esta en la obligacion de instruirlo biblicamente. VEAMOS:

1) Cuales son los nombres de los Evangelios?

2) Que quiere decir el nombre Jesus?

3) En que idioma se escribieron los Evangelios?

4) Que quiere decir la palabra Evangelio?

5) Que quiere decir la palabra Biblia?

6) Que quiere decir la palabra Catolico?

Puede ser que muchas personas no sepan las respuestas a estas preguntas, pero si hay muchas personas religiosas que si saben los averiges o records de los jugadores de pelota y Foot-ball de las grandes ligas, asi como el dia en que nacieron, cuantos anos jugaron, a que clubes pertenecieron etc etc.

Si estando usted en esa condicion, aun asi, si su pastor le pasa el cepillo" para que usted contribuya, le esta cobrando por algo que NUNCA LE HA DADO, esto es: instruccion biblica. Ahora razono escuetamente, por que se interesa el, por su corazon, su mente, o su BOLSILLO? ...JUZGUE USTED-MISMO.

Para su beneficio, daremos las respuestas a las preguntas dichas anteriormente:

1) Los nombres de los cuatro evangelios son: Mateo, Marcos, Lucas, y Juan.

2) El nombre Jesus quiere decir: "Jehova es Salvacion".

3) Los Evangelios se escribieron en Griego.

4) La palabra Evangelio quiere decir: "Buenas Nuevas o noticias".

5) La palabra Biblia quiere decir: Rollos de papiros, volúmenes o literalmente folios.

6) La palabra Catolico, significa "Universal".

Recuerde querido lector, para su beneficio, ESTUDE SU BIBLIA, como cultura personal y espiritualmente como cosa principal.

OUR USE OF LEISURE

None of us can make our best contribution to life unless we take care of our physical selves. The right kind of recreation renews the body, mind, and spirit.

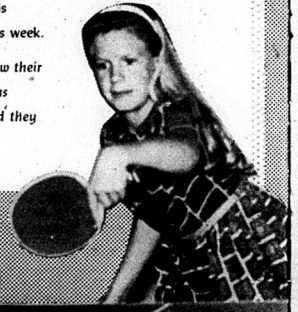

There should be a proper balance and rhythm between work and rest.

Our Lord meant for us to enjoy life and intended no man to punish his body with unrelieved work.

Of course our recreation should be of a kind that would actually re-create our spirits and bodies and make us better able to perform our work.

Part of our leisure time should be spent renewing our spirit by worshiping God in His Church. We invite you to attend services this week.

"But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint." Isaiah 40:31.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
